CONTENTS OF VOLUME EIGHTEEN.

This volume is embellished with three beautiful engravings on steel, one wood cut, and twenty-six pieces of popular musick.

EMBELLISHMENTS.

Engravings on Steel.

I. VIGNETTE TITLE. Designed by Weir and engraved by Durand; being an allegorical representation of the present period in the history of this country 1

II. PORTRAIT OF THE EDITOR. From a painting by Henry Inman 1

III. ACCURATE LIKENESS OF MISS CHARLOTTE VANDENHOFF. Painted by Ingraham, and engraved by Sadd . 105

Engraving on Wood.

LIKENESS OF POCAHONTAS. Engraved by W. D. Redfield 17

MUSIC.

1. I will not ask to press that cheek . 8
2. Amid the wood a streamlet flows . . 16
3. When gentle music's sounding . . 24
4. I saw the warrior on the plain . . 32
5. I'll twine thee a chaplet of primroses 40
6. Write to me, love, when thou art far . 48
7. A favourite waltz 56
8. Grand march, by Rossini 64
9. Lejos de te no hai dieha conque pueda 72
10. The pearl of the fountain 80
11. Oh! must we part to-night . . . 88
12. When first I over the mountain trod . 96
13. An original waltz 104
14. When life looks lone and lonely, love 112
15. From those eyes Love's lightnings . 120
16. Buenas noches, buenas noches . . 128
17. Love cannot be the aloe-tree . . . 136
18. Fare thee well, love, fare thee well . 144
19. Shine brightly through her casement 152
20. Lucy dear, wake to the spring . . 160
21. Vien qua Dorina, bella 168
22. 'Twas in the flush of autumn time . 176
23. Beautiful dreams, ye ever belong . . 184
24. Arise, fair maid, and listen to my lay 192
25. Oh! turn away those eyes of love . 200
26. The king's only daughter both lovely 208

PROSE.

A scene from an unpublished farce . . 5
A glance at the early settlers in 1675, 17, 25, 33, 41
Anecdote and gossip, 35, 43, 70 . . . 79
A Galway dinner 37
A day in New-York 69
A chapter on Cupid 83
A dinner at a Hong merchant's house . 83
An author his own hero 92
An Irish robber 125
A night in the woods 132
A night at the opera 158
A letter for the ladies 163
A few thoughts on all this steaming, 181, 186 196
A pleasure party 181
A coach-stand and a milk-stand . . . 186
A duel prevented 190
American gallantry 197
An Irish wager 35
A son-in-law 35
A clever pun 35
Advantage of losing sight 35
Anecdote of Garcia 72
An old man's advice 78
A prodigiously fine fellow 87
Acting 87
Anecdotes of Wellington 107
American portrait gallery 111
Another sailor-girl 155
A curious fact 160
A contradiction 176
A revolution 176
Beau Brummel 10
Biography of Mr. Braham 184
Bianca Capella 29
Benefits of matrimony 29
Bachelors 35
Bulwer and Eugene Aram 127
Braham's first concert 159
Bowery theatre 167
Carry arms 28
Count Frederick Adolphe Montano, 156, 164
Childhood 72
Changes of the earth 79
Chance definitions 155
Contemplated improvements of the Battery 159
Debt, getting in and out 22
Desultory selections, 29, 47, 130, 147, 190
Dottings down at Nahant 84
Death of a schoolboy 143
Dying consolation 29
Durable love 87
Drawing and the Daguerreotype . . . 159
Editorial remarks, 7, 15, 23, 31, 39, 47, 55, 63, 71, 79, 87, 95, 103, 111, 119, 127, 135, 143, 151, 159, 183, 199
Extracts from Bulwer's Godolphin . . 86
Extracts from Knowles' new play . . . 138
Eloquence 29
Essay on civilized war 35
Empty benches 107
Elliston's pomposity 107
Excuses for not going to church . . . 155
From the new novel of Grayslaer . . . 35
Female linguists 54
Female genius 108
Fables from the German of Lessing, 128, 160
Female heroism 80
First confession of love 86
Fashionable novels 86
Fine merit 86
Fashions for autumn 151
Flowers and shrubs 168
Feat of some spiders 168
Gaieties and gravities 178
Hornets 6
He would be a husband 163
Humanity and gratitude 205
Horrible adventure 29
How to cure love 35
Horrors of civil war 35
Horn's new opera 143
Indian eloquence 5
Infidelity in love 54
Is it a cut, or no 54
Indian tradition of the Star of night . . 116
Influence of dress 126
Irish wit 35
Idle men in London 87
Idea of comfort 107
Johnson and ourself 4
Knowledge of the world 58
Kate Hennessy 121, 129
Knowles' Bride of Messina 151
Literary notices, 7, 15, 23, 31, 39, 55, 62, 71, 106, 119, 127, 135, 159, 167, 175, 183, 191, 205
Letter from under a bridge 21
Letter from London, 44, 52, 60, 68 . . 110, 116, 124, 132, 148
Letter from Berlin, 44, 52, 60, 164, 172, 180
Letter from Nahant 45
Letter from the country 61, 110
Life at the bar 78
Literary odds and ends 134
La Danseuse 142
Love and loyalty 169, 177
Life in the palace 186
Language of flowers 72
Lucilla and her first love 86
Long courtships 155
Lectures on the sublime and beautiful . 159
Literature and the stage 167
Memoirs of female sovereigns, 3, 10, 19, 34, 51, 59, 67, 91, 99, 115, 123, 131, 139, 146, 162, 171
Miscellany, 8, 24, 27, 32, 40, 48, 56, 64, 72, 80, 88, 96, 104, 112, 120, 128, 136, 144, 152, 160, 168, 176, 192, 200, 208
My cousin Georgiana 77
Mr. Irving's Crayon Papers . . . 82, 126
Mother of Napoleon 93
Mozart's Don Giovanni 102
Miss Charlotte Elizabeth Vandenhoff . . 105
My cane, my wife, and my umbrella . . 105
Mr. James' new works 118
Madame Laffrage 147
My first client 165, 170
Midnight hour, or the Devil's clock . . 194
My neighbor over the way 194
Money and water 35
Miss Caroline Herschell 79
Man's vocations 87
Murray, the bookseller 107
Mercantile Library Association . . . 151
Modern chivalry 176
New music 63
Night before the duel 154
National opera-house 175
Notices to readers and correspondents, 7, 15, 23, 31, 39, 47, 55, 63, 71, 79, 87 103, 111, 119, 127, 135, 143, 151, 159, 167, 175, 183, 191, 199, 207
New amusement 29
New-York sculptors 95
Notions of gentility 104
Near-sightedness 107
New National opera-house 143
Original scraps from the German . . . 6
Our landscape painters 29, 38
Off or near 93
Observations on the weather 195
Original anecdote of Decatur 29
Original letter from Beethoven 72
Orphans 78
On the coldness of my love 176
Pocahontas 17
Posthumous hunt 92
Preservation of health 114
Present arms to the duke 195
Pictures of every-day life 198
Portraits of public characters 204
Pay in advance 29
Philosophy 35
Portrait of a heroine 86
Quite a thriving place 29
Rough sketches of Switzerland 5
Remarkable instance of canine sagacity . 29
Returning energy 29
Recollection of unkindness to the dead . 35
Retort courteous 35
Religious wars 35
Rising in the world 47
Regard for truth 107
Skunks 12
Spirit of the Parisian journals . . 84, 173
Scenes in the life of a stroller 125
Sketch of a regiment on march 125
Squire Crockett 137, 145
Sold and paid for 163
Slander 29
Sleepers 35
Sneezing 35
Singular circumstance 35
Spanish philosophy 35
Sir Sydney Smith 80
Single men 87
Social condition of women in Palestine . 104
Scotch philosophy 107
Strong propensity 155
Sculpture and painting 176
The wife of two husbands 1
The pleasures of reputation 9
Traits of Indian character 12
The works of dramatic writers, 14, 28, 62, 109, 117, 141
The Drama, 14, 38 63
The Brahmin angel, an oriental tale . . 16
The bargain 20
The brothers 20
The Puppet-show and the Post covers . 22
The drama versus the ballet 30
The royal glance 36
The arts of an ingenious auctioneer . . 38
The world as it is 45
The Mendip chasm, . . 49, 57, 65, 73, 81
Tour through Egypt and Palestine, 50, 62, 100, 108, 124, 134
The new scene in William Tell . . . 53
The Pacha's daughter 66
The Blondin of Namur 68, 76
The chase of a flying shadow 74
The sun and moon 75
The outside slice 77
The maid of Athens 83
The merchant's vision 85
The coquette 89, 97
The end of a royal line 92
The horse and his rider 100
The merchant's sign 101
The piano 111
The elopement 113
The long-lost son 117
The value of life 140
Tour through Scotland 141
The beggar-girl of the Pont des Arts, 149, 156, 165, 172, 180, 188
The queen and the monk 153
The skeleton husband 155
The forester 160
The wonderful plough 174
The dancing-girl and the gazelle . . . 185
The orange-girl 193
The highest and lowest animal . . 196, 204
The elopement 201
Tories of the revolution 35
The auld gray mare 35
The dead alive 35
Treasure discovered 45
Thirty thousand florins for a violin . . 72
Three reasons for not lending 104
Tender avowal in the way of trade . . 155
The bride 155
Uniformity of nature 143
Unrequited love 35
Untaught accomplishments 86
Undeniable authority 176
Varieties 15
View from the tower of the Seraskier . . 35
Views in the United States 143
Wanted, a wife 35
Woman 35

POETRY.

Away from the revel! the night-star is up 35
A battle hath been quenched in blood . . 91
A sound on the rampart 104
A baron had a daughter fair 111
And this is all I've left me now 136
Ay, wreathe the tresses o'er thy brow . 146
And this is all I have left now 206
Beauty sat tracing with sportive finger . 27
Between two eyes I must expire . . . 27
Confound this album-tax which ladies levy 160
Come fill the cup—the man who throws . 171
Canst thou, silent and cold 192
Dear Fanny, this comes hoping you are well 38
Fond, foolish thing 91
Give me the bending heavens above . . 145
Gone for ever, like a rushing wave . . 206
How merrily we maidens rove 24
He stood upon the sandy beach . . . 35
How fondly memory loves to nurse . . . 67
Her form was beautiful 168
I love the fields, the woods, the streams . 48
I stood in Wall-street at the hour of noon 56
I love the women too—from the young . 59
It is the twilight hour 60
I saw a lovely forest flower 81
I am the laughing-stock of all 90
I'll think of thee when morn is breaking . 96
I wish he would decide, mamma . . . 104
I wandered by the brook-side 132
I'm just eighteen and quite a man . . . 139
I saw from yonder silent cave 166
I'll tell you a story that's not in Tom Moore 168
I've vowed at least a dozen times . . . 168
I know not if thy youthful heart . . . 171
I weep the hour that I was born . . . 171
My babe, my own, my blessed babe . . 19
My dearie, O, my dearie, O, ... 19
Mighty Father, God of nations 25
Mine is the fame most blazoned of all . 43
Music hath charms to soothe the savage . 64
My sister Jane is quite a blue 96
My sons, behold what a portion I do give 99
My heart now feels a sort of an expansion 123
My little dream of love is o'er 208
Night sinks upon the dim gray wave . . 83
Nay, little trembler, shrink not thus . . 179
Once more I see thee, good old friend . . 8
O say not, dream not, heavenly notes . . 11
O tell me, did you ever see 27
Of all the bored ones on this earth, I ween 59
O sun, ere thou closest thy glorious career 75
O dungeon dark, and awful, and profound 80
O give me that oblivious draught . . . 126
O come with me, dearest 131
O sigh not for the fair young bride . . . 139
O she was passing fair 166
Our wives we kiss'd, we journeyed west . 171
O blame me not 183
Roamer of the mountain 195
She is alone, and casts her gaze . . . 27
Since every poet has addressed a song . . 92
She hath her wish—for which in vain . . 99
She'd rather be a village maid 99
Softly blow the evening breezes 115
She is not fair to outward view 179
She loved you when the sunny light . . 195
Thou wilt not forget me, although far away 19
Thou flower-robed summer, at thy fairy . 40
The orb I like is not the one 43
The breezes blow, and the moon shines . 48
There stands a castle old and gray . . . 51
The beautiful humanities 72
The mighty sun had just gone down . . 78
There's a gem that is dug from the earth . 88
The wretch to guilt and misery flies . . 104
The father saw the wretched maid . . . 107
Tu-whoo! In my ancient hall 128
Thou art very lovely, maiden 135
There was a time when I could feel . . 147
Thine eyes are dark and bright, lady . . 156
The autumn leaf is fading fast 166
Touched by the breath of early frost . . 168
There shines an all-pervading grace . . 171
These are the words, the burning words . 171
Thou art too like thy mother, boy . . . 177
The days we used to laugh, Tom . . . 179
Upon the barren sand 153
Viola, Viola, those sun-brilliant eyes . . 112
What forms upon the midnight air . . . 3
Where is it mothers learn their love . . 11
Wine, wine, thy power and praise . . . 35
Well, sir, so you're come at last 131
Why don't he come 131
What! shut the gardens, lock the gate . 158
Why trembles the baron with fear . . . 196
Ye field flowers, the gardens eclipse you . 166

CONTENTS OF VOLUME EIGHTEEN.

This volume is embellished with three beautiful engravings on steel, one wood cut, and twenty-six pieces of popular musick.

EMBELLISHMENTS.

Engravings on Steel.

I. VIGNETTE TITLE. Designed by Weir and engraved by Durand; being an allegorical representation of the present period in the history of this country 1

II. PORTRAIT OF THE EDITOR. From a painting by Henry Inman 1

III. ACCURATE LIKENESS OF MISS CHARLOTTE VANDENHOFF. Painted by Ingraham, and engraved by Sadd . 105

Engraving on Wood.

LIKENESS OF POCAHONTAS. Engraved by W. D. Redfield 17

MUSIC.

1. I will not ask to press that cheek . 8
2. Amid the wood a streamlet flows . . 16
3. When gentle music's sounding . . 24
4. I saw the warrior on the plain . . 32
5. I'll twine thee a chaplet of primroses 40
6. Write to me, love, when thou art far . 48
7. A favourite waltz 56
8. Grand march, by Rossini 64
9. Lejos de te no hai dieha conque pueda 72
10. The pearl of the fountain 80
11. Oh! must we part to-night . . . 88
12. When first I over the mountain trod . 96
13. An original waltz 104
14. When life looks lone and lonely, love 112
15. From those eyes Love's lightnings . 120
16. Buenas noches, buenas noches . . 128
17. Love cannot be the aloe-tree . . . 136
18. Fare thee well, love, fare thee well . 144
19. Shine brightly through her casement 152
20. Lucy dear, wake to the spring . . 160
21. Vien qua Dorina, bella 168
22. 'Twas in the flush of autumn time . 176
23. Beautiful dreams, ye ever belong . . 184
24. Arise, fair maid, and listen to my lay 192
25. Oh! turn away those eyes of love . 200
26. The king's only daughter both lovely 208

PROSE.

A scene from an unpublished farce . . 5
A glance at the early settlers in 1675, 17, 25, 33, 41
Anecdote and gossip, 35, 43, 70 . . . 79
A Galway dinner 37
A day in New-York 69
A chapter on Cupid 83
A dinner at a Hong merchant's house . 83
An author his own hero 92
An Irish robber 125
A night in the woods 132
A night at the opera 158
A letter for the ladies 163
A few thoughts on all this steaming, 181, 186 196
A pleasure party 181
A coach-stand and a milk-stand . . . 186
A duel prevented 190
American gallantry 197
An Irish wager 35
A son-in-law 35
A clever pun 35
Advantage of losing sight 35
Anecdote of Garcia 72
An old man's advice 78
A prodigiously fine fellow 87
Acting 87
Anecdotes of Wellington 107
American portrait gallery 111
Another sailor-girl 155
A curious fact 160
A contradiction 176
A revolution 176
Beau Brummel 10
Biography of Mr. Braham 184
Bianca Capella 29
Benefits of matrimony 29
Bachelors 35
Bulwer and Eugene Aram 127
Braham's first concert 159
Bowery theatre 167
Carry arms 28
Count Frederick Adolphe Montano, 156, 164
Childhood 72
Changes of the earth 79
Chance definitions 155
Contemplated improvements of the Battery 159
Debt, getting in and out 22
Desultory selections, 29, 47, 130, 147, 190
Dottings down at Nahant 84
Death of a schoolboy 143
Dying consolation 29
Durable love 87
Drawing and the Daguerreotype . . . 159
Editorial remarks, 7, 15, 23, 31, 39, 47, 55, 63, 71, 79, 87, 95, 103, 111, 119, 127, 135, 143, 151, 159, 183, 199
Extracts from Bulwer's Godolphin . . 86
Extracts from Knowles' new play . . . 138
Eloquence 29
Essay on civilized war 35
Empty benches 107
Elliston's pomposity 107
Excuses for not going to church . . . 155
From the new novel of Grayslaer . . . 35
Female linguists 54
Female genius 108
Fables from the German of Lessing, 128, 160
Female heroism 80
First confession of love 86
Fashionable novels 86
Fine merit 86
Fashions for autumn 151
Flowers and shrubs 168
Feat of some spiders 168
Gaieties and gravities 178
Hornets 6
He would be a husband 163
Humanity and gratitude 205
Horrible adventure 29
How to cure love 35
Horrors of civil war 35
Horn's new opera 143
Indian eloquence 5
Infidelity in love 54
Is it a cut, or no 54
Indian tradition of the Star of night . . 116
Influence of dress 126
Irish wit 35
Idle men in London 87
Idea of comfort 107
Johnson and ourself 4
Knowledge of the world 58
Kate Hennessy 121, 129
Knowles' Bride of Messina 151
Literary notices, 7, 15, 23, 31, 39, 55, 62, 71, 106, 119, 127, 135, 159, 167, 175, 183, 191, 205
Letter from under a bridge 21
Letter from London, 44, 52, 60, 68 . . 110, 116, 124, 132, 148
Letter from Berlin, 44, 52, 60, 164, 172, 180
Letter from Nahant 45
Letter from the country 61, 110
Life at the bar 78
Literary odds and ends 134
La Danseuse 142
Love and loyalty 169, 177
Life in the palace 186
Language of flowers 72
Lucilla and her first love 86
Long courtships 155
Lectures on the sublime and beautiful . 159
Literature and the stage 167
Memoirs of female sovereigns, 3, 10, 19, 34, 51, 59, 67, 91, 99, 115, 123, 131, 139, 146, 162, 171
Miscellany, 8, 24, 27, 32, 40, 48, 56, 64, 72, 80, 88, 96, 104, 112, 120, 128, 136, 144, 152, 160, 168, 176, 192, 200, 208
My cousin Georgiana 77
Mr. Irving's Crayon Papers . . . 82, 126
Mother of Napoleon 93
Mozart's Don Giovanni 102
Miss Charlotte Elizabeth Vandenhoff . . 105
My cane, my wife, and my umbrella . . 105
Mr. James' new works 118
Madame Laffrage 147
My first client 165, 170
Midnight hour, or the Devil's clock . . 194
My neighbor over the way 194
Money and water 35
Miss Caroline Herschell 79
Man's vocations 87
Murray, the bookseller 107
Mercantile Library Association . . . 151
Modern chivalry 176
New music 63
Night before the duel 154
National opera-house 175
Notices to readers and correspondents, 7, 15, 23, 31, 39, 47, 55, 63, 71, 79, 87 103, 111, 119, 127, 135, 143, 151, 159, 167, 175, 183, 191, 199, 207
New amusement 29
New-York sculptors 95
Notions of gentility 104
Near-sightedness 107
New National opera-house 143
Original scraps from the German . . . 6
Our landscape painters 29, 38
Off or near 93
Observations on the weather 195
Original anecdote of Decatur 29
Original letter from Beethoven 72
Orphans 78
On the coldness of my love 176
Pocahontas 17
Posthumous hunt 92
Preservation of health 114
Present arms to the duke 195
Pictures of every-day life 198
Portraits of public characters 204
Pay in advance 29
Philosophy 35
Portrait of a heroine 86
Quite a thriving place 29
Rough sketches of Switzerland 5
Remarkable instance of canine sagacity . 29
Returning energy 29
Recollection of unkindness to the dead . 35
Retort courteous 35
Religious wars 35
Rising in the world 47
Regard for truth 107
Skunks 12
Spirit of the Parisian journals . . 84, 173
Scenes in the life of a stroller 125
Sketch of a regiment on march 125
Squire Crockett 137, 145
Sold and paid for 163
Slander 29
Sleepers 35
Sneezing 35
Singular circumstance 35
Spanish philosophy 35
Sir Sydney Smith 80
Single men 87
Social condition of women in Palestine . 104
Scotch philosophy 107
Strong propensity 155
Sculpture and painting 176
The wife of two husbands 1
The pleasures of reputation 9
Traits of Indian character 12
The works of dramatic writers, 14, 28, 62, 109, 117, 141
The Drama, 14, 38 63
The Brahmin angel, an oriental tale . . 16
The bargain 20
The brothers 20
The Puppet-show and the Post covers . 22
The drama versus the ballet 30
The royal glance 36
The arts of an ingenious auctioneer . . 38
The world as it is 45
The Mendip chasm, . . 49, 57, 65, 73, 81
Tour through Egypt and Palestine, 50, 62, 100, 108, 124, 134
The new scene in William Tell . . . 53
The Pacha's daughter 66
The Blondin of Namur 68, 76
The chase of a flying shadow 74
The sun and moon 75
The outside slice 77
The maid of Athens 83
The merchant's vision 85
The coquette 89, 97
The end of a royal line 92
The horse and his rider 100
The merchant's sign 101
The piano 111
The elopement 113
The long-lost son 117
The value of life 140
Tour through Scotland 141
The beggar-girl of the Pont des Arts, 149, 156, 165, 172, 180, 188
The queen and the monk 153
The skeleton husband 155
The forester 160
The wonderful plough 174
The dancing-girl and the gazelle . . . 185
The orange-girl 193
The highest and lowest animal . . 196, 204
The elopement 201
Tories of the revolution 35
The auld gray mare 35
The dead alive 35
Treasure discovered 45
Thirty thousand florins for a violin . . 72
Three reasons for not lending 104
Tender avowal in the way of trade . . 155
The bride 155
Uniformity of nature 143
Unrequited love 35
Untaught accomplishments 86
Undeniable authority 176
Varieties 15
View from the tower of the Seraskier . . 35
Views in the United States 143
Wanted, a wife 35
Woman 35

POETRY.

Away from the revel! the night-star is up 35
A battle hath been quenched in blood . . 91
A sound on the rampart 104
A baron had a daughter fair 111
And this is all I've left me now 136
Ay, wreathe the tresses o'er thy brow . 146
And this is all I have left now 206
Beauty sat tracing with sportive finger . 27
Between two eyes I must expire . . . 27
Confound this album-tax which ladies levy 160
Come fill the cup—the man who throws . 171
Canst thou, silent and cold 192
Dear Fanny, this comes hoping you are well 38
Fond, foolish thing 91
Give me the bending heavens above . . 145
Gone for ever, like a rushing wave . . 206
How merrily we maidens rove 24
He stood upon the sandy beach . . . 35
How fondly memory loves to nurse . . . 67
Her form was beautiful 168
I love the fields, the woods, the streams . 48
I stood in Wall-street at the hour of noon 56
I love the women too—from the young . 59
It is the twilight hour 60
I saw a lovely forest flower 81
I am the laughing-stock of all 90
I'll think of thee when morn is breaking . 96
I wish he would decide, mamma . . . 104
I wandered by the brook-side 132
I'm just eighteen and quite a man . . . 139
I saw from yonder silent cave 166
I'll tell you a story that's not in Tom Moore 168
I've vowed at least a dozen times . . . 168
I know not if thy youthful heart . . . 171
I weep the hour that I was born . . . 171
My babe, my own, my blessed babe . . 19
My dearie, O, my dearie, O, ... 19
Mighty Father, God of nations 25
Mine is the fame most blazoned of all . 43
Music hath charms to soothe the savage . 64
My sister Jane is quite a blue 96
My sons, behold what a portion I do give 99
My heart now feels a sort of an expansion 123
My little dream of love is o'er 208
Night sinks upon the dim gray wave . . 83
Nay, little trembler, shrink not thus . . 179
Once more I see thee, good old friend . . 8
O say not, dream not, heavenly notes . . 11
O tell me, did you ever see 27
Of all the bored ones on this earth, I ween 59
O sun, ere thou closest thy glorious career 75
O dungeon dark, and awful, and profound 80
O give me that oblivious draught . . . 126
O come with me, dearest 131
O sigh not for the fair young bride . . . 139
O she was passing fair 166
Our wives we kiss'd, we journeyed west . 171
O blame me not 183
Roamer of the mountain 195
She is alone, and casts her gaze . . . 27
Since every poet has addressed a song . . 92
She hath her wish—for which in vain . . 99
She'd rather be a village maid 99
Softly blow the evening breezes 115
She is not fair to outward view 179
She loved you when the sunny light . . 195
Thou wilt not forget me, although far away 19
Thou flower-robed summer, at thy fairy . 40
The orb I like is not the one 43
The breezes blow, and the moon shines . 48
There stands a castle old and gray . . . 51
The beautiful humanities 72
The mighty sun had just gone down . . 78
There's a gem that is dug from the earth . 88
The wretch to guilt and misery flies . . 104
The father saw the wretched maid . . . 107
Tu-whoo! In my ancient hall 128
Thou art very lovely, maiden 135
There was a time when I could feel . . 147
Thine eyes are dark and bright, lady . . 156
The autumn leaf is fading fast 166
Touched by the breath of early frost . . 168
There shines an all-pervading grace . . 171
These are the words, the burning words . 171
Thou art too like thy mother, boy . . . 177
The days we used to laugh, Tom . . . 179
Upon the barren sand 153
Viola, Viola, those sun-brilliant eyes . . 112
What forms upon the midnight air . . . 3
Where is it mothers learn their love . . 11
Wine, wine, thy power and praise . . . 35
Well, sir, so you're come at last 131
Why don't he come 131
What! shut the gardens, lock the gate . 158
Why trembles the baron with fear . . . 196
Ye field flowers, the gardens eclipse you . 166